Thanksgiving

Psalm 136 opens with the command to “Give thanks to the Lord, for He is good.” The entire Psalm consists of 26 verses that give a concise reason to thank God. Following each of those reasons are the words, “His love endures forever.” Twenty-six times the psalmists reminds us that the love of God endures forever. When we reflect that God was motivated by His love for us to send His son to die for our sins, the only rational response is one of gratitude. To try to fathom the depths of a love so generous is mind-boggling as we struggle to understand why God chose to love us. And then to think that God’s amazingly great and generous love endures forever, causes us to cease, for the moment, our worldly endeavors, and whisper in our hearts to God, the only appropriate response: “Thank you.”

During this Thanksgiving season, let us be truly thankful to the one who has given us every reason to be thankful.
